TERMS OF THE DAILY DEMOCRAT TO THE COUNTRY.

To our Country Patrons. Please to register your letters containing remit-ances, as we hold ourselves responsible for all tosses to us when letters are registered. We are not reble for lowes in the mails, should they occur, This elty contains a voting populaon of not less than ten thousand. Monday the Rudleal ticket was carried by a vote the highest only 4,370. Louisville, in an exciting election, palls fewer votes than she did ten or tifteen years ugo. For some years, not long since, one side was uppressed by clubs and brass knucks. Since that time a new era has arrived, and now military orders and bayonets are cought to bear to diminish the vote of the city. Two years ago the same means were employed, and with a similar result. A law of Congress was passed to prevent such occurrences; but soldier were placed near the polls, under the pre text of keeping the peace, when there was no disturbance apprehended. These times arrests are made upon secret information and the citizen confined at discretion, and there is no redress. Any one is, therefore, liable to nrrest, and a number were arrested Monday for voting wrong. At least no other charge was known. Ar rests were threatened under certain con rder. Our citizens have had too much experience to trent such threats as idle, We need not say that such measures deter men from the polls. No one would call such electons free. We heard a great deal about conducting the election according to the laws of this State, and the military promised to see to lt. But the laws of this State do not provide that the inlitary shall have anything to do lu the case. It does not provide that voters shall be warned away from the polls and arrested, if, in the judgment of the military, they have not a right to vote. The law provides suitable penalties for its violation. and allows only their infliction after conviction. The military order, moreover, warned men from the polls not disfranchised by the laws of this State. The atempt of Congress to prevent military inerference in elections was plainly vioated, for every scheme of intimidation was practiced and had its effect. But we re getting used to these things. Free elections we hardly expect. The pretex of disloyalty hides all these sins. Men fear to vote because disloyal. The sann exense for disorganizing law and usurpng power will do in all time to come. A ifficient reply to all that is, that the laws provide un adequate remedy, and usurpations of power are crimes quite as great as those of disloyalty. In fact, what else is so disloyal? In this city, on Monday, all appliances that usually accompany unapparently, had plenty of backs and nm dances, and voters where chilzens did ot seem to be voting, and, after all, they General Roussean overran his ticket about slx immdred. > The trouble with a new President of easonaldy frugal habits is not how to save his salary, but how to spend it. In the first place he has no rent to pay. Congress furnishes the White House from garret to cellnr, and provides all that is needed in kitchen and pantry, as well as in parlor. He has no wages to pay. Congress pays his servants, from private secretary to bootblack and scullion.

It also provides him with fuel and lights, and pays the expenses of his stales. It provides him with a garden and bles. It provides him with a garden and a corps of gardeners, who onght to see that he pays nothing for vegetables, or fruits, ar flowers. In short, of the ardinary expenses of housekeeping, the only bills the President is called upon to pay are the butcher's and the wine merchant's. Even the latter has not fallen upon the recent occupants of the White House, whose cellurs have been kept well stocked by presents of wines and liquors. When all these items are deducted, and when it is considered that it is not ethered. when it is considered that it is not etlquette in Washington to call upon the President for contributions to ordinary charities, and it can be easily understood how Mr. Lincoln could lay up one-half or more of his salary. And this reconpopulation of New Orleans was never before so large at this season as at present.

Muny ranses have combined to swell the population. While the war was raging, there was a large accession from the North, and, indeed, from all parts of the Union, und, indeed, from all parts of the Union, attracted hither by various inducements, "too numerous to mention." Although very many of these people have departed from among us, many yet remain and seem likely to form part of the permanent population of the city. Since the termination of hostilities, very large numbers of long absent citizens have returned to their loved houses—to the beautiful city that is endeared to them by many sweet, affecting, delightful, ennobling remembrances. In addition there has been, and continues to be, a large influx of people brances. In addition there has been, and continues to be, a large influx of people from the interior of this and from adjoining States. In fact, the population of the city Is now so large that house accommodation is difficult to be got, and the principal thoroughfares are as throughout the day as, in "the flush times" of old, they were in the hight of our gay and brilliant winter-business and amissement-season.

er crops. But, should they appear in force even as late as September, they would still be able to do great damage.

DEATH OF RICHARD HILDRETH.—Richard Hildreth, United States Consul General at Florence, died in that city on the lith uit. He was formerly a journalist, then became anthor, but is best known for his history of the United States.

The military authorities of Indiana are arresting draft skedaddlers who have becently returned from Canada. The penalty for the crime will probably be five years in the regular army without pay.

The New Orleans Delta says that trains will be running regularly from New Orleans to Canton, on the Jackson railroad, by the 15th inst,

Now that the grand election farce over, and everything is quiet again, it I me to turn our attention to the real ir terests of the people of the city, and this we cannot better do than by pointing out to people that do not reside or trade at this

All the inercantile pursuits of the city are prosperons, and large fortunes have been made, and are still being made, and will continue to be made, and profits increase with the expansion and Investment of capital, which is becoming more and more abundant every year, inviting inmore abundant every year, inviting dustry and enterprize that properly ployed cannot fail to meet with the sation they seek, and to which they are justly entitled.

For the professions of medicine and law we rejoice that we cannot say so much—though there are of both professions many hide and cuninent men—yet they are not very presperous, for the city enjoys good health, the dockets are light, and litigation at a discount. But there is yet a branch of this subject to which we desire to call the especial attention of the public, far and near, and that is the fresh provision, vegre justly entitled, near, and that is the fresh provision, veg-etable, and fruit markets of the city. The

We wall the attention of capitalists to this fact, for we believe what we say to be true, when we assert that there is not auother city in the West that offers so many strong inducements and attractions to capital and industry as the city of Louisille now presents.

And this seconomy will be more comprehensible if the fact be, as universally asserted and credited in Washington, that the expenses of the parties and state-dinners, occasionally given by the President, were, at Mrs. Lincoln's request, paid for out of Government funds. All this was different under former administrations.

As the Democrat is sound in its Republicanism, and supported Mr. Lincoln, and, moreover, is owned by the ex-Postmaster of the last Congress but one, a strong Republican House, too, we shall believe the facts us they are stated.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT OF THE DARRITOWN MURDER.

Since writing the above we have received from J. J. Longfellow, a Justice of the Peace in Hamilton, a statement that Sylvester Irwin is the name of the son who killed his father, John Irwin, and his step-mother, Jane Irwin. Constable Wm. Howard arrested Irwin as he was making for the train. He had on his person a revolver and seventy dollars in money. Imring the preliminary examination before Magistrate Longfellow, there was instense excitement among the citizens of Hamilton, who knew John Irwin and highly respected him. The excitederrowd were lond in their dennneiation of Sylvester Irwin, the murderer, and cried on to hang him. The prisener was conveyed out through the back door, and safely secured in the county jail. There are different versions as to the origin of this truly terrible affair. One account, differing slightly from the one given above is there. slightly from the one given above, is that Sylvester returned to the house from plow-ing, when some girls, from an upper-story window of his father's house, spit down

FINANCE AND TRADE

The general features of the flour market wer nuchanged to-day. There seems to be a complet tion of prices. Superfine is held at 47 5 67 75 to city and choice country, but the e figures are fully 25c above the views of buyers, and if sales were furced, liberal concessions would be necessary. Extras are held at $8.75% for low grades, and trade brands and family at studie 10, according to quality and reputation of brand. The rains of Saturday night and Sanday morning have given a fresh imetus to holders of wheat, and they, to-day, conended for higher prices.

There was a good demand for money to-day, but no presente, nor was there any difficulty in obtain-ling discounts. There is a healthy activity, such as lenders wishing to keep their means employed, de-sire, nothing more. Hates of interest remain at #69

NEW YORK, August 8.

On Saturday night last a party of several young men made an attack, at Rockyneck, on the house occupied by a colored man named A. H. Davenport, who is married to an Irish womau, with the avowed intention of inflicting punishment on the negro and his wife, for they indulge in matrimonial amalgamation. After the young men had been several times warned to leave, the mother of Davenport, an old negro woman of fifty or sixty years of age, who was also in the house, fired on them, killing their leader. A coroner's investigation took place on Sanday. Yesterday the jury, in their verdict, justified the shooting as having been done in self-defense, and the old negro woman and her son were discharged.

MAYOE'S OFFICE, LOUISVILLE, KY.,

All persons owing or having dogs or hogs in their pessession, are hereby required to keep them confined upon their premises for sixty days from this date, under penalty of twenty dollars fine and loss of the animals found at large. At the suggestion of the military authorities, all persons are requested to keep slops and dirt off the streets and sleys—particularly out of the gutters. The season demands the utmost care on the part of every one to prevent sickness, part of every one to prevent sickness, and each should be watchful of his jelo deo Philip Tomprest, Mayor.
